ACTOR GIVES LIFE FOR PET.

In frantic effort to save his trained kangaroo (lower inset), Thomas Collins, vaudeville actor, was burned to death in blaze which gutted warehouse at 609-611 West 46th St., where many valuable stage animals were quartered. Collins's last act was to wrap his coat about the kangaroo, which was found dead near his body. Other acts of heroism were performed by stage people. Albert Friend, nephew of Herman the Great, famous magician (upper inset), made many rescues of animals. At his left is shown Mme. Herman, holding cat that Friend saved, and at her right John Ketcham, with two rescued vaudeville dogs. Many trained animals were lost in fire. (Photo Graphic.)
